

What is currentcare?

currentcare is a health information exchange that provides a secure electronic network connecting your doctor and other approved health care professionals to your electronic medical record. It allows caregivers to quickly, accurately, and safely share your treatment history and information in order to reduce mistakes, encourage collaboration, and improve efficiency. currentcare will help ensure that your doctors have the right information at the right time to give you the best medical care possible.

What does it mean to you?

Better information means better care

The doctors, nurses, and pharmacists who work together for your health need the best information possible to provide you the best care possible. currentcare can give your doctor a more complete picture of your health and treatment history. currentcare will help reduce duplicate tests and dangerous mistakes when prescribing medication, and will ensure that all your doctors have a clear picture of your medical record.

A strong commitment to privacy

The data in currentcare is safe, secure, and private. It's intended only for you and your doctors, and your information is not for sale. Your records are only made available to providers that you approve, and strong privacy controls keep your information out of the wrong hands.

What does it mean to your doctor?

Treating the whole person is better medicine

The more information your doctor has, the better equipped he or she is to give you the level of care you deserve. The more a medical professional knows about your medical history, the better the chances that they'll detect and prevent serious life-altering and even fatal illnesses. Some medications can fix one problem but create another; currentcare will allow all of your physicians to access accurate medical histories so they can get the complete picture of your health and history. Better information means better treatment and, therefore, better health.

Fast, accurate data when it matters

Accurate electronic medical information allows your doctor to spend less time shuffling paper and more time with you. Information shared electronically is more likely to be accurate and up-to-date than the paper-based system doctors rely on today. When you enroll in currentcare you may dramatically cut the amount of time you and your doctor spend waiting for test results.
